By United Press.

His fiancée, Miss Esther Carlson, young and pretty, appeared with her girlish diary, to show that Lee was with her at the time. The alibi worked and Lee was freed.

Flush Your Blood Get it Cleansed

Remarkable Remedy That Works All Through Your Body.

When you put a tablespoonful of S. S. S. into your stomach it gets straight into your blood. In less than five minutes it has become a wave of restorative influence, wherever the blood has circulated. Does this read like magic? But it is absolutely true. Those powerful digestive juices in the stomach can not change the medicinal effect of S. S. S. The liver can not burn it. The lungs, skin and kidneys excrete it only after S. S. S. has set in motion millions of cells and nerves to throw off the countless germs that have infested every part of the body. And as S. S. S. continues to battle those troublesome pests that gather in the form of pimples, boils, eczema, acne, catarrh, rheumatism and other so-called blood disorders, it rouses into action a myriad of strange but well-understood corpuscles called leucocytes that actually devour or change or convert disease germs so they are readily and quickly cast out of the body. It is probably the best appreciated blood medicine known. You will find S. S. S. on sale in nearly every drug store in the U. S. Get a bottle today. And if your case is peculiar, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 155 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is conducted by a noted physician.

HOW HARRY WON CROSS

By United Press.

London, May 26.—(By mail to New York.)—This is a story of heroism—how Sergeant Major Harry Daniels, second rifle brigade, won the Victoria cross at Neuve Chapelle.

It's also a story of another Victoria cross and a lonely grave back there in northern France. It's a story of two chums who faced death together and fought until bullets cut them down. Corporal Tom Noble is dead. Sergeant Major Daniels told it today from his cot in a big London hospital.

"I am more glad about Tom's Victoria cross than I am about my own," he said, "poor chap he didn't even know it." And then he told how Tom and himself—inseparable companions since they went out in November—volunteered to cut the wire entanglements of the enemy not fifty feet from the German trenches. Crawling along the dangerous "no man's land" between the trenches they reached the wire. Lying on their backs they started to work.

"We were hard at it," continued Daniels, "when above the din of machine gun fire I heard a faint voice. 'I'm hit in the chest, old man,' Noble called and those were his last words. He was soon unconscious and died."

Himself wounded in the hip a few moments later, Daniels crawled a short distance to a shell hole, where he rested until daylight. Then slowly he dragged himself toward the British trenches.

Reading his morning paper today in the hospital Daniels learned that he had won the Victoria cross. He said nothing, until the man in the next cot asked:

"Your name's Daniels, isn't it? You're Sergeant Major Daniels of the rifle brigade. You've got the V. C."

Daniels admitted it.

"Yes, I reckon it must be me," he said.

And then he told the story.

INQUIRY STARTED

By United Press.

Liverpool, May 28.—The naval attaché of the American embassy in London today began a searching investigation of the condition of the steamer Nebraska to ascertain, if possible, whether it was struck by a torpedo.

Capt. Green, the commander of the vessel, told the reporters that he thought the ship was torpedoed because the chief engineer informed him that he thought he saw the wake of a torpedo just after the explosion.

It is regarded as certain that if the vessel was attacked by a submarine, the officers must have recognized it as an American ship.

Watering the Lawn is Cheaper

James McRea of the Jitney Bus company appeared before the council presenting a petition signed by a number of citizens and asking that the council pass no law or ordinance that would prohibit the operation of the jitneys. Mr. McRea stated that as far as he could learn no bonding company would furnish bonds to jitneys or other motor driven busses. The matter was carried over by the council for further investigation.

An ordinance was introduced, but not acted upon, providing for the addition of a city officer, to be known as street and alley officer of Chickasha. According to the terms of the proposed ordinance, his duties would be to inspect all streets and alleys and to see that at all times they were kept in condition required by the city ordinances; to see that no rubbish or fifth accumulated in alleys, streets or vacant lots, as breeding places for germs and to notify all property owners to remove any accumulation of such nuisances.

According to the terms of the proposed ordinance, the officer should have police power and should anyone refuse to comply with the terms of the city ordinances governing the condition of streets and alleys, he could use that power to the best advantage.

The compensation of the officer was to be fixed by the street and alley committee of the city council. The ordinance was discussed at some length but was carried over to some future meeting of the council for definite action.

Indian Egg Dance.
Want a new dance? Why not try the Indian egg dance? Place 18 eggs in rows on the floor and dance rapidly zigzag among them without breaking any of them—that's all. An expert says it takes four or five years of practice to become an adept and that learners will do well to use potatoes during the first two or three years of practice. It may be added that it is advisable to use strictly fresh eggs at any stage of the game. The reason for this precaution can readily be understood by securing a defunct egg and breaking the shell suddenly with an ax.
